Privately-owned Accommodations (Sublets & Rentals)

Note: There are strict requirements regarding reimbursement of private rentals, and some costs associated with a rental may not be allowable. If a private rental is a possibility for you, please contact us immediately for more information, or the INT might not be able to reimburse you.

- Lodging with family, friends, or colleagues is not reimbursable.
- If you will be reimbursed by the INT for your lodging, the property owner cannot be an employee of the INT or the Physics Department.

Documentation needed:

1. Copy of rental housing advertisement (must be publicly advertised; AirBnb and VRBO web listing OK)
2. A copy of the rental agreement with names, address of property, dates, amount
3. Original receipt with renter's name, address of property rented, dates of the rental, and the amount paid, signed by the property owner

Absence from Seattle during the rental period:

- If the absence is for a personal reason (e.g., vacation) the prorated cost for the absent nights will not be reimbursed.
- If the absence is for a work-related reason for a few days (e.g., official business that requires the visitor's presence at their home institution, attendance at a physics conference elsewhere), reimbursement for the absent nights will be allowed if the reason is explained on the travel expense voucher and the INT has documented that the rental cost is still less than other commercial lodging for the actual nights of occupancy.
